UNITED STATES ROBBED OF $17,000,000 BY THE ACTS OF LAND COM'IS'N

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The United States government is being robbed of between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000 through a too liberal attitude of the Panama U. S. joint land commission, states General Goethals.

He told the house committee frankly that extravagant prices are being paid daily for land needed for canal purposes and much of the money is undistributed to be turned over to squatters who hold illegal title.

After outlining the most important phases of the case, General Goethals suggested legislation that will compel payments only on the actual value of the land. Such an arrangement was made in 1901 when the canal zone was acquired. He also strongly urged the immediate termination of the joint land commission.

Col. Goethals also cited cases where owners had been awarded 5,000 and 4,000 per cent more than the lands were valued at before the United States took possession.

The land commission is said to contain but one American and naturally takes the attitude that the government can afford to pay any price for property for canal use.

The United States has paid out $18,000,000 when the fair value would have been $1,000,000. General Goethals are accused with some feeling, it is hard to be on the scene of what and see his ability rebuffed without lifting a warning hand.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Markets are today closed because of Lincoln's birthday.

HUNDREDS OF DINERS POISONED BY FANATIC

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Details of a sinister plot planned by a supposed fanatic, to murder by poison the guests at a banquet given by Arch Bishop Handekin Thursday evening, are in the hands of the police today.

One hundred prominent diners became violent ill as a result, but are reported out of danger now. It is believed the poisoner must have been interrupted at his work, as all those present would have suffered a horrible fate.

A search of certain suspected rooms by plainclothes men revealed large quantities of poison and literature on anarchisms. Detectives working on the case state the public may expect an arrest at any moment.

GIGANTIC ROBBER BAND OF CHICAGO UNEARTHED

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Confronted by evidence secured by United States authorities, John Zeck today began his confession of a series of gigantic robberies perpetrated by an organized band of Chicago thieves.

According to secret service men, Zeck admitted the stealing of $1,000,000 in revenue stamps from the St. Paul postoffice and the taking of $275,000 from the Western Union branch bank at Montreal.

Many prominent persons are involved, if Zeck's confession proves the truth. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flannigan, who are already under arrest.

FOSTER'S NAME NOW IS MENTIONED AS POSSIBLE SECRETARY OF WAR

ST. AUGUSTINE, Feb. 12.—Florida is backing Adjutant-General J. Clifford R. Foster, for secretary of war to fill the post made vacant by the resignation of Lindley M. Garrison. A big man meeting held here today launched the movement, which is gaining rapidly in all parts of the state.

Dispatches received up to noon today from several Florida points indicate unanimous backing. Floridians are flooding Washington with telegrams to the president urging the appointment of General Foster on the ground of his known capabilities in military affairs. General Foster is recognized throughout the country as an authority on military affairs and, therefore, is well fitted for the position.

ROUMANIA DEMANDS BULGARIA TO EXPLAIN

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—Roumania has demanded an explanation from Bulgaria concerning the actions of the Bulgarian troops in crossing the international border, according to a dispatch received here from Bucharest.

It is further understood from Italian sources that Roumania will find the explanation insufficient and unacceptable. Diplomatic relations between the two countries may be terminated upon the arrival of the Bulgarian answer.

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" COMING NEW DAYTONA THEATER FOR 3 DAYS

"The Battle Cry of Peace," a motion picture, written by J. Stuart Blackton, based upon Hudson Maxim's book, will be shown at the New Daytona theatre for three days, commencing next Monday (St. Valentine's Day). There will be three shows each day beginning at 10 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. This film, like the "Birth of a Nation," is a photoplay upon a grand scale.

Its topic is timely, for it deals with the lack of preparedness for war by the United States, and tells of an imaginary invasion of this country by a nation called Ruritania. It is a sort of sermon in favor of preserving peace by not being so weak as to tempt an enemy, and it is hard to believe that anybody of intelligence could witness it and come out of the theater, still prating that we must rely entirely upon moral suasion in dealing with foreign nations.

If the United States Army could buy this picture and exhibit it for nothing in every town and village in the country, it would have a very wonderful effect upon recruiting and the general attitude toward national defense.

So much for the mission part of "The Battle Cry of Peace." When we come to discuss it as an entertainment, we find a thrilling and remarkable drama, occupying from an hour to an hour and a half, which is pieced and padded and patched, to make out a two-hour-and-a-half show, with an exceedingly miscellaneous collection of allegorical, scenic and military pictures that have no important bearing upon the play proper.

When the picture is stripped of this stuff, as it will be before its career is finished, it will be two or three times as effective.

The scene of the play is laid in New York. Charles Richman and an excellent company are used to bring the big tragedy nearer home by tracing its progress upon the fortunes of a small group of people, just as was done in "The Birth of a Nation." When the play opens we find Richman preaching preparedness to a heedless world. A peace meeting is shown in which a lot of smug and blatant old men address foolish women and wave flags.

War is declared by the foreign nation called Ruritania. Our fleet steams out and commits suicide. Somehow all the writers on a possible war make our fleet, no matter how inferior in strength it may be, attack the enemy. This is more a compliment to the courage of its officers than their intelligence. You haven't heard anything about the German fleet coming out to be sunk. Anyway, an alien army is landed after part of New York is knocked down by the guns of their fleet. Then we are shown what happens to private individuals in an invaded country. All the people we have met suffer terrible fates. The most dreadful of all is the killing of her two daughters by a mother to save them from the soldiers.

The shooting down of a score of American prisoners by a machine gun is a mere trifle, compared to what is inflicted upon others.

The spectacular features include the sinking of the fleet, the working of the big guns of the forts, the destruction of buildings by shell fire, and a pitched battle between American and Ruritanian soldiers, which is very effective.

Captain Jack Crawford, the scout poet, delivers a short address during the intermission and reads some of his own poetry.

"SECRETARY OF FRIVOLOUS AFFAIRS"—THE ARCADE

Beautiful May Allison plays the part of the clever heroine in this stirring drama of social life and mysterious intrigue. A strong cast of screen favorites rounds out this wonderful production.

Synopsis of the play:

Upon the death of their father, Louie and Josephine learn that instead of being wealthy heiresses, they are practically penniless. Fortunately, Louie secures the position of secretary to rich Mrs. Hazard, becomes a great social favorite, and the latter's son, Hap, falls in love with her. One evening, while dancing with the Duke de Trouville, Natalie, with whom Hap has been infatuated, loses an emerald bracelet, and accuses Louie of being the thief. Then follows a series of jewel thefts and Winthrop, a young author, in love with Hap's sister Laura, is arrested. One night Louie, suddenly awakened, discovers thieves at work, whereupon she is seized, bound and taken to a lonely cabin. The household is awakened and a search begins. Hap, who has been knocked unconscious by one of the thieves, revives and joins in the pursuit. In the meantime Louie has escaped from the cabin, later falling unconscious upon the beach, where she is found by Hap. At the Hazard home the Duke, who is discovered in the act of stealing valuable pictures from the gallery, and Mrs. Outler, another one of the guests, turn out to be the jewel thieves and are brought to justice. Naturally, this stirring climax is followed by exquisite love scenes, in which Hap, Louie, the exonerated Winthrop and Laura are the principals.

"HIS LAST DOLLAR" AT CRESCENT THEATRE

The famous racing play, "His Last Dollar," which will be shown at the Crescent today, with David Higgins in the role originally created by him, is the most thrilling drama of its type ever produced in America. The success of the original production was so decisive and notable that the title of the play has become a by-word in racing circles, and for many years a "David Higgins" has been commonly accepted as representing the last dollar in one's possession. In the film production David Higgins' unusual characterization of Joe Braxton, the impersonation in the stage version, and many scenes, including the exciting situation at the stock exchange and the great race itself, that were only described in the play, are vividly depicted in the film adaptation. In all these Mr. Higgins' versatility is revealed to a marked degree, and his talents as actor and horseman are shown unhampered by the inevitable limitations of a stage production.

Joe Braxton, first a little newsie of the slums, goes south, learns to handle horses, become a noted jockey, then drifts west and for years is a cow boy, investing his earnings in cattle, lands and finally mines, until he is a millionaire. Coming east, the self-made man determines to enjoy a life of ease and forget the hardships of his youth. Still unmarried he becomes the catch of the social season, and is eventually entrapped into an engagement with Viola Grayson, a young beauty whose mercenary mother urges her into the affair with Braxton, who admires, but does not love, the young woman. Viola, herself, is in love with Tom Linson, a friend of Braxton's, who is by no means the big-souled, open-hearted man that Braxton is. Linson is a schemer, who has planned to ruin Braxton and enrich himself with his friend's fortune. Linson goes south, with a letter of introduction from Braxton to an old Southern Colonel, who had formerly befriended the ex-jockey. In the south Linson wins and woos Eleanor Downs, the Colonel's young and pretty daughter, and being ordered from the house by the Colonel, Linson persuades the unsophisticated girl to elope with him, in vain. Linson returns to New York and inveigles Braxton into a heavy stock speculation, in which he hopes to fleece his friend. Meanwhile, old Col. Downs, losing money and health, sends Eleanor east to run their horse, "Mongrel," in the great futurity race. Eleanor and Braxton meet, and in that meeting Braxton learns the difference between true love and false, while Eleanor, too, loses her heart. She discovers the plot to ruin Braxton, and learns that Viola is false to him. Though Linson threatens to ruin her reputation with the story of their proposed elopement, she does reveal the truth to Braxton, who believes Eleanor defiles Viola and Linson, and rushes to the stock exchange to fight for his tottering fortune. The exchange closes in time to save him from being quite wiped out, and he knows that the afternoon's futurity race will make or break him, for he has placed all he did not put into the Wall Street venture on Eleanor's horse, "Mongrel," which is to run against "Pompador," the favorite, Linson's horse. The great Linson, the dramatic hand to hand fight between the rival jockeys, their magnificent riding, the attempted fouling of "Mongrel," and the splendid triumph of Braxton and Eleanor over their enemies, is vividly shown in one of the greatest and most realistic race track scenes ever portrayed before the camera. At its close, Eleanor and Braxton decide to finish life's race together, and the drama ends happily.

tion. One of the boys proves to be the son of Mrs. Martindale, housekeeper for the Ellsmere. Judge Le Roy, who presides at the Juvenile Court, has long been friendly with Lillian Ellsmere, and when her little brother and Mrs. Martindale appear in court next day, he arranges to have the boys take a drug cure.

"BLACK FEAR" AT THE CRYSTAL THEATRE

In an allegory Satan is seen on his throne, disgusted with the aselous monotony of enslaving mankind with the old devices and passions. Miss Cocaine presents herself and offers to go forth to Earth as his ambassador, to lure souls to perdition.

Horace Ely, head of a big messenger service company, is starting on an automobile ride with the two Ellsmere sisters, Lillian and Mary, when their attention is attracted to a group on the corner. There the sisters find their younger brother, Billy, has been engaged in a fight with two messenger boys, both cocaine users. Ely champions the cause of the boys, but the police leads them off to the station. One of the boys proves to be the son of Mrs. Martindale, housekeeper for the Ellsmere. Judge Le Roy, who presides at the Juvenile Court, has long been friendly with Lillian Ellsmere, and when her little brother and Mrs. Martindale appear in court next day, he arranges to have the boys take a drug cure.

Soon after this incident, the father of the Ellsmere girls loses his fortune in Wall Street and ends his life. The girls take a small flat, and Billy gets a place with Ely as a messenger boy. Through the direction of Ely, Billy is introduced to cocaine, and soon becomes a confirmed victim. Mrs. Martindale has learned from her son that Ely, who has been posing as a single man, is married. Mary has become fond of Ely and refuses to believe it. Lillian forbids Mary to see him, and Ely uses Billy as a go-between.

Mary is finally lured to Ely's apartments, and when she resents his advances, he drugs her. Billy's health has been undermined through using the drug, and he is removed to a hospital in a dying condition. Lillian learns of this and hurries to the hospital, but arrives there as Billy is breathing his last. Crazed with grief, Lillian seeks out Ely's apartments to avenge Billy's death. She forces her way into the apartment just as Ely and Mary, who is recovering from the effects of the drug, are in a terrific struggle. Mary hides before her sister can see her there. In a fight with Ely, Lillian attempts to shoot him, but he wrenches the revolver from her hand. Ely trips over a rug, and in falling the pistol is discharged and Ely is killed. Mary witnesses the whole affair, but fearing Lillian's wrath, and to save her own reputation, she flees.

Miss Cocaine reports her success to Satan and is commended.

Lillian is arrested and charged with murder. She convinces Judge Le Roy of her innocence, and he resigns as Judge to defend her, but it is not so easy to convince the jury. Mary hesitates to confess her shame, but becomes conscience-stricken and goes to court. She recounts how Lillian saved her from outrage at the hands of the monster, Ely. The jury returns a verdict of "Not Guilty" without leaving the jury-box, and Judge Le Roy is rewarded by Lillian's acceptance of his suit for her hand.

BIG LEMONS EXHIBITED AT RIDGEWOOD HOTEL

Miss Nan George, telegraph operator at the Ridgewood hotel, had on exhibition at that hostelry Thursday two immense lemons, a gift to her from friends at Number Nine on the Peninsula north of Ormond, that attracted much attention from the guests. The lemons weighed two pounds each and closely filled the two quart basket in which Miss George packed them for transportation to her mother in Boston, Mass. Miss George is located while here with Mrs. Gertrude Wall and daughter on Magnolia avenue.

GIRL LEAVES SICKBED TO BEG LOAN TO BURY MOTHER

Far From Friends, She Seeks to Keep Body From Potter's Field.

In Milwaukee, Wis., alone and penniless in a poorly furnished room, Mrs. Maud McGraw fought pneumonia, brought on by lack of proper care.

In Kokomo, Ind., Mildred McGraw, eighteen years old, lay critically ill. So the days slowly passed in pain for the two women in the little rooms so far apart. They could not even comfort each other. And then another day dawned—the girl was a little bit better, but the older woman was dead.

To the sick girl in Kokomo two days later there came a letter with the name of the Milwaukee county corner's of rice in the corner.

Her mother was dead, she read. What was almost as great a horror to her, the letter said the body would be buried in the potter's field unless money was provided for funeral expenses.

Mildred didn't cry as much as she wanted to. She didn't have time. She had to force herself out of that sick bed. She had to somehow get to the homes of friends and borrow money to go to Milwaukee. In spite of pain and weakness and sorrow she did those things and arrived there—destitute again.

She was told at the morgue that the money to bury her mother must be raised by next day. She knew no one there, so she went to a newspaper office.

"Don't you think there is some one in all this city who will loan me enough money to bury my mother?" she asked after she had told her story. "There must be at least one, if only they can be told. I don't want my mother buried in the potter's field. I've loved her so long! Surely we have suffered enough now. That won't be asked of me, will it?"

"I'll pay the money back. If I was strong enough to work I wouldn't ask a penny, but there is no other way."

The girl's appearance—she was thin, pale and haggard—indicated that she is too weak to do any work.

TO EXCEL THE FOKKERS.

American Airship Now Being Built Will Be Six Times as Large.

G. Douglas Wardrop, editor of the Aerial Age, member of the Aero Club of America and American Society of Aeronautic Engineers, told the cadets and instructors at West Point that the United States is developing a machine of the air that will be more powerful than the Fokker machine recently built in Germany.

"We are developing a machine that will represent the greatest achievement of men in aerial transportation," said Mr. Wardrop. "It will be six times larger than any yet tried. It will carry enough fuel to give it a cruising range of 600 miles at seventy-five miles an hour. It will be propelled by seven motors, six of 100 horsepower and one of forty."

The machine will carry eight passengers and possibly thirty with the decrease of a cargo of explosives. It can carry more than ten tons. It will carry a new gun which has no recoil and which will throw a three and one-half inch shell. This is achieved by having a double shot with a single explosion. One load will go in one direction—the shell; the other of sand will go in the opposite direction, neutralizing the recoil."

Origin of "Entente."

The phrase "entente cordiale" was first used to express the friendly relations existing between France and England in 1843.

As Whitman Saw Longfellow.

Walt Whitman characterized Longfellow as poet of the mellow twilight of the past; poet of all sympathetic gentleness, and universal poet of women and young people.

Few Reach Standard of Beauty.

The standard of beauty, by general consent of the artist and poets of all ages and all climes, is to be found in the faces and forms of the Greek statues. How many women and men of today fulfill the canons of beauty? "One or two in a million," says Professor Pottinger.

CLARENDON LINKS WILL BE DOUBLED BEFORE NEXT YEAR

Before the coming of another season, golfing fans will find the Clarendon Golf and Country Club one of the most attractive playing courses in Florida. A nine-hole extension of the present links is being built, which will more than double its area.

The existing links had their origin at a time when this sport was new in Florida. Like so many other courses, this one was started by a group of northern business men to fill the gap between autumn and spring golf. The organization gradually expanded until it now embraces a large share of the cottagers and guests of Seabreeze.

Ideally situated between the Halifax river and the ocean, the course is easily accessible to yachtsmen and autoists. The former can anchor near by and make a foursome a pleasant incident in their Florida trip, while the latter can reach the club house by motoring along the famous Daytona beach. A gently rolling country and well designed hazards combine to satisfy the golfer's insatiable craving for new problems.

The first tee lies a stone's throw south of the shingled club house. It follows for 295 yards westward, crossing a natural sand dune bunker, which runs like a spinal column the entire length of the course. The next hole is a continuation of the last. This brings you to the western border of the grounds. A scientifically planted barrier of palms and other tropical foliage, with spaces between just large enough for a dimple to pass, presents a worthy test of a player's skill.

Along the edge of a Mexican chapel runs the third hole. The impassable jungle growth offers a striking contrast to the closely cut grass hard by. The next play is parallel to the second hole, the gauntlet of palms having to be run again. The course then stretches to the north along a 315-yard line of rolling ground involving few difficulties. For the next hole, the golfer retraces his steps and encounters two sand basins cleverly concealed by rolling hills. A long drive is necessary here to place the ball beyond all danger. The golfer's way now leads across to the western edge of the links again to the seventh hole, after which the shortest stretch on the course, of 136 yards, puts the player in touch with the final hole measuring 291 yards. Frequently the initial approach will land on the green, and while a putter once in a while decides this hole, three is the bogie. The ninth play borders the ocean boulevard and the green lies within a few steps of the clubhouse.

Several features original to southern courses will be incorporated in the new grounds. So many northerners balk at the square, barren greens, so general in Florida, that the more familiar clever type will be given a trial. While a dyed-in-the-wool golfer anticipates and expects conditions changing according to the requirements of the country in which he plays, the man now at the game finds himself in deep water immediately on the southern courses, where nature must be served first. This idea of planting a northern links on Florida soil will be adhered to strictly. The sand dune formation makes possible the adaptation of several hazard innovations peculiar to the coast links of Scotland. The exact lines of the new holes have not been finally passed upon yet, but a number of changes in the present system will occur. Upon completion the course will carry a distance of over 6,000 yards.

Golfers commence to arrive with the coming of the first snow flurry in the north. The active season lasts until nearly May. The size of the present course made it inadvisable to hold tournaments, but a program will be outlined for next season's play. The expansion that the Clarendon club dates from two years back when A. J. Christie, the professional at the Ekwauck Country Club of Manchester, Vermont, took the helm. He has caused many improvements and his past experience in Scotland and the Green Mountains has proved invaluable here. Eric Edwards is his assistant. Clubs of all types are manufactured on the premises. The club house is a low lying, single structure, equipped with every convenience. It faces the Daytona ocean speedway, the only natural ocean boulevard in America.

If you read it in the Daily News it is pretty apt to be just that way.

CONGRESS PAYS YEARLY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Without regard to political creed or doctrine, congress today paid tribute to the memory of President Lincoln. Resolutions were submitted by Representatives Roddenberg and Wheeler, of Illinois, and many others. In accordance with a custom dating back for a number of years, the Gettysburg address was read by Representative Russell, of Missouri.

CHAIN-GANG SENTENCE FOR VIOLATORS OF PROHIBITION LAW

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 12.—The legislature today passed a measure making mandatory the chain-gang sentence for all violators of the prohibition law. The senate also passed a measure driving the Southeastern Underwriters' association from the state.

PRESIDENT WILSON MAY CHOOSE SECRETARY OF WAR TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Every prominent Democrat in the country is being urged for the appointment of secretary of war, according to Secretary Tamm.

As fast as telegrams suggesting new names in connection with the cabinet office are received, they are forwarded to President Wilson, who is aboard his yacht, Mayflower. It is thought that a decision will be announced today. Leaders now express the view that Garrison's resignation will help the present preparatory plan rather than hinder it.

GERMANY ORDERS ARREST OF CARDINAL MERCIER, OF BELGIUM

BONNE, Feb. 12.—Reports coming from a reliable source in Geneva say that Germany has ordered the arrest of Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium. He is expected to be deported from Germany to escape detention. A semi-official statement from Berlin denounces the cardinal as a schemer.

PROMIN'T MILWAUKEE MEN ARE GUESTS AT HOTEL CLARENDON

A party of prominent business men of Milwaukee, Wis., including O. J. Koch, Herman Fehr, Ed Munkwitz, Al Jonas and F. Weyenberg, are guests at the Hotel Clarendon for a several weeks' stay. All are members of the Blue Mound Country Club and are golfing for the benefit of the practice, as they intend entering the Western golf championship contest. They are not letting golf interfere, however, with their enjoyment of automobile trips to various points of interest and other forms of amusement, including daily surf bathing on the ocean beach, fishing, etc. Friday evening they enjoyed a stone crab and turtle steak dinner at New Smyrna, which was a novelty to them. They have chartered a yacht for a fishing trip down the river, and expect to have great sport. They will make an automobile tour to Miami and return and also go to the West Coast for practice on the Clarendon links at Clearwater. All the party are schoolmates of M. Leidersdorf of this city, and the reunion is a very pleasant one.

Mrs. Morehouse arrived Friday from Saratoga, N. Y., to take charge of the Oriental shop in the Hotel Clarendon.

Richard Jones has arrived in the city from Youngstown, O., and is located at the Hotel Clarendon for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Gaylord and Miss E. Goeni, of Chicago, Ill., are in Seabreeze and are stopping at the Hotel Clarendon.

Martin Beck, F. W. Vincent, of New York and M. H. Singer, of Chicago, Ill., have arrived in Seabreeze and have joined Mr. Munkwitz and party at the Hotel Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Fairchild and daughter, Mary Fairchild, of Cleveland, O., arrived Thursday and expect to enjoy a stay of several weeks on the beach at the Hotel Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Sackett have arrived from Louisville, Ky., and have joined John H. Caperton and son at the Hotel Clarendon. They will enjoy a stay of several days on the beach at this hotel.

Mrs. Edna F. Lee and son, Chas. Lee, after spending a week in Seabreeze at the Hotel Clarendon, left Friday for their home in New York. They will enjoy a short stay in Cincinnati, en route home.

Among other guests who arrived Thursday for the balance of the winter season at the Hotel Clarendon are Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Bawlf, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. John E. Baker and Miss S. E. Baker, of York, Pa.

Mrs. W. H. Springer and Mrs. Wm. F. Moulton, of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived Thursday and are pleasantly located at the Hotel Clarendon, where they will spend several days enjoying the many attractions of the beach.

Mrs. Frank Gilbert and Miss Jessie H. Hare, of Troy, N. Y., regular season guests at the Hotel Clarendon, returned Thursday for the balance of the winter season. They are very much delighted with the beach and, as usual, are anticipating an enjoyable stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gibson have returned from Utica, N. Y., and as usual, are registered at the Hotel Clarendon for the season. They are enthusiastic golf players and expect to enjoy many exciting games on the Clarendon golf links during their stay here.

After spending some time on the beach at the Hotel Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Curtis left Friday for various points in southern Florida. They spent a most enjoyable stay on the beach and are planning on returning next winter.

Dr. and Mrs. Luke Corcoran arrived Thursday from Springfield, Mass., to spend the balance of the winter season in Seabreeze at the Hotel Clarendon. They have been spending their winters on the beach at this popular hostelry for a number of years and are well known by a host of friends at the hotel, who are welcoming them back. Dr. Corcoran is a prominent physician in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McPherson were the charming host and hostess at a dinner Thursday evening in the grill of the Hotel Clarendon. Covers were laid for seven at the perfectly appointed table, which had as its central decoration a case filled with beautiful pink roses and feathery fern. A delicious course dinner was served. Their guests included guests of the Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Don and charming daughter, Miss Don, regular season guests at the Hotel Clarendon, have recently arrived from Troy, N. Y., for the remainder of the winter. Miss Don is a lover of out-door sports and is very popular among the young society set of this attractive hostelry. They are being welcomed by a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Compson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., are among the recent guests registered at the Hotel Clarendon for the remainder of the winter season. Mr. and Mrs. Compson have been touring the southern part of the state. They are enthusiastic golf players and great lovers of out-door sport and as this hotel affords all kinds of out-door amusements for their delightful stay here.

The Clarendon baseball team again defeated the Ormond team Thursday afternoon at the Ormond baseball park. A large crowd accompanied the Clarendon team and the grand stand was crowded with enthusiastic rooters from both hotels. In the last inning the score was 10 to 2 in favor of Clarendon. The next game between these teams will be played Thursday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock at the Ormond park and all interested in baseball are urged to be present.

PINAFORE PLAYS TO OVER 1,000 PERSONS

To two packed houses, yesterday afternoon and last night, the Stetson university cast sang "Pinafore" in Daytona.

Fully 1,000 persons saw and heard the two performances at the New Daytona theatre yesterday, most of them through the generosity of Commodore Burgoyne. The opera was well presented and pleased both audiences, the matinee being composed of the children of the Daytona Public schools.

Among the audience last night were many members of the Elks and Masonic orders, Commodore Burgoyne having mailed a ticket to every member of both orders residing in Daytona.

Clifford Botts, the manager of the cast, stated last night to the News that the Deland people greatly appreciated the reception given "Pinafore" by the Daytona people and that the individual members of the cast felt highly gratified.

"Bankrupt."

The discussion on the etymology of the word "bank" in Mr. Justice Darling's court might have been carried a step further by the illustration of our term "bankrupt," says a London paper. The old Venetian money-changers and lenders carried on their business at a stand or bench (banca), and when one was unable to meet his obligations his "banca" was broken (rupta).

War Without Its Glamour.

Men rush to war ready to die if necessary. Death in battle is thought of as instantaneous. But how many think of the greater possibility of being left a human wreck, of dragging a maimed and helpless body through the long years until the end? How many think of coming back, not as unscathed heroes, but as pitiful remnants of humanity, and renewing the battle for bread, perhaps never too easy, with the added incumbrance of disability? One of the most searching allegories of war ever pictured showed soldiers setting off to the front through sidewalks lined by cheering crowds, and on the same page a grizzled, legless veteran pathetically offering pencils to a hurrying throng that gave him no heed. War, judged by its wake, is not a thing to be entered lightly. It must be accepted if unavoidable, but only when unavoidable. Stripped of its glamour of glory, it is revealed as a piteous thing.

Planting Sugar Cane.

Sugar cane is planted, not sown. A small piece of the cane, long enough to include two or three of the rings, or nodes, is laid lengthwise, or stuck in a slanting direction, along a furrow which runs the length of the field. In some sections the primitive fashion of planting in holes is still employed. When the trench is planted the pieces of cane are lightly covered with earth. In a few weeks they show growth above the ground, the germ buds at the rings having begun to shoot out in the form of young cane, the ring having at the same time thrown out rootlets into the soil. The parallel trenches are made far enough apart, say at least three feet, to enable the workers, when the wide-spreading canes are getting ripe, to go between the rows and remove the dying leaves which burden the ripening cane, thereby enabling the naked cane to mature faster.

All black-tread Tires are NOT made— —of "BAREFOOT" Rubber

THIS is to tell the People, that Goodrich "BARE-FOOT-RUBBER" Value lies not in its COLOR but in its composition.

It lies in the especially devised Texture, Flexibility, Cling-quality, Stretch, Lightness and Resilience of that "Barefoot Rubber" which, through years of Research, WE developed to match the marvellous Flexibility, Resilience and Power-conservation of our two-layer-Cord "Silvertown" Tires.

Color alone would have been little help in making "Silvertown" Treads stand-up in the tremendous ENDURANCE Tests which the 100-Mile-per-hour-Races of 1915 provided.

And Color alone,—Black, White, Red, or Gray—can do little for the Consumer who buys a "Me-too" Black-Tread Tire, of imitated make, on the assumption that all Black-Tread Tires are likely to be made of same materials.

THE marvellous "Barefoot Rubber" now used in Goodrich FABRIC Tires (as well as in Goodrich "Silvertown") is black only because we elected that color, primarily for distinction and association with our SILVERTOWN CORD Tires.

When, therefore, the usual crop of "flattering" Imitations sprouts upon the Market DON'T assume that OTHER Black-Tread Tires have in them the "BARE-FOOT-RUBBER" which made the enormous ENDURANCE of Silvertown Cord Tires possible in the 90 to 103 Mile-per-hour Races of 1914-15.

No Tires on the Market, Size for Size, and Type for Type, are LARGER than Goodrich, and none more generously good, at any price.

"Barefoot Rubber" is now made into Goodrich FABRIC Tires,—Goodrich "Silvertown Tires,"—Goodrich Inner Tubes,—Goodrich Truck Tires,—Goodrich Motor Cycle Tires,—Goodrich Bicycle Tires,—and Goodrich Rubber Boots, Overshoes, Soles and Heels.

Get a sliver of it from your nearest Goodrich Dealer or Branch.

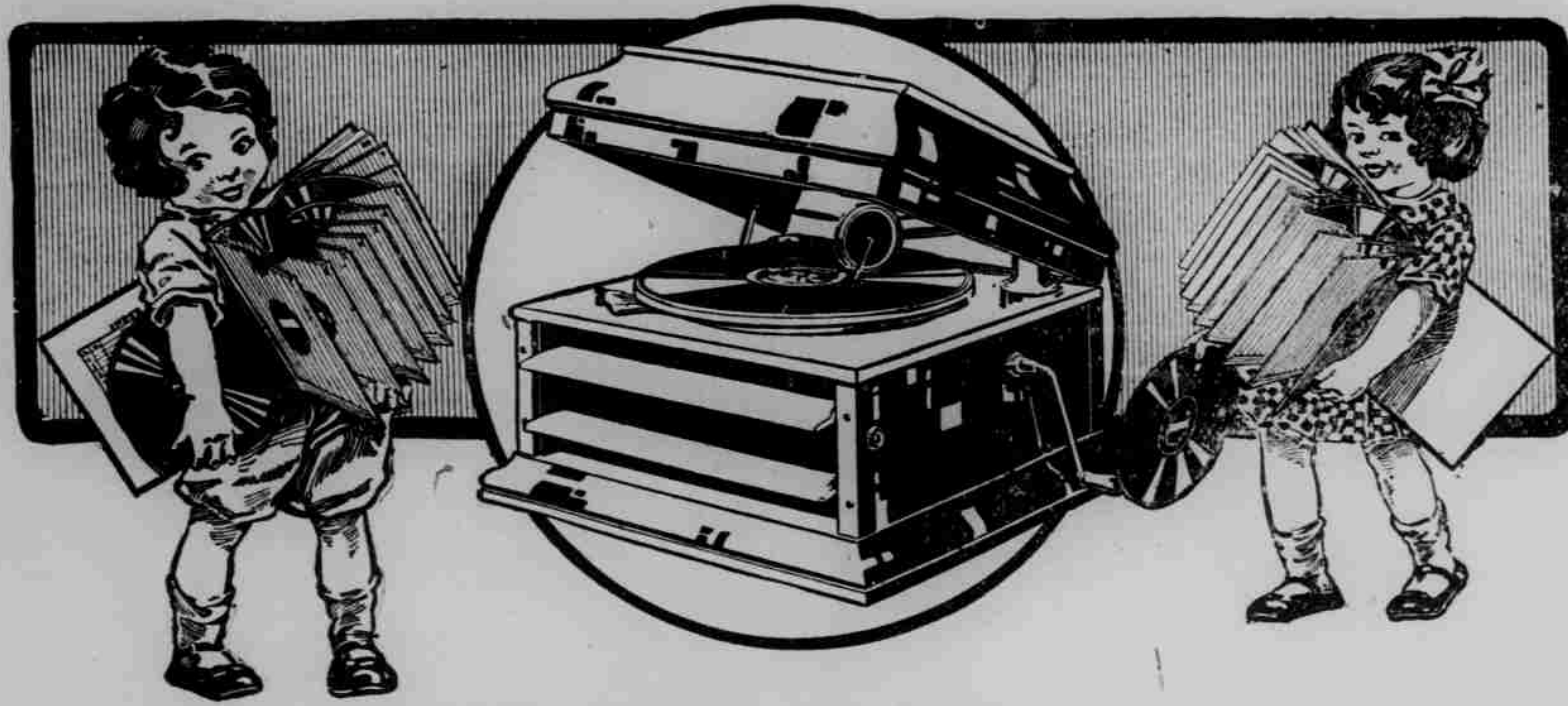

Note (by comparison), the reasonably-low Fair-List prices at which these best-possible Fabric Tires are being sold, on a BUSINESS basis.

LINCOLN

By James Russell Lowell

LIFE may be given in many ways
And loyalty to truth be sealed
As bravely in the closet as the field.
So bountiful is Fate.
But then to stand beside her
When craven churls deride her,
To front a lie in arms and not to yield—
This shows, methinks, God's plan
And measure of a stalwart man.
Limbed like the old heroic breeds
Who stand self-poised on manhood's solid earth,
Not forced to frame excuses for his birth,
Fed from within with all the strength
he needs.
Such was he, our martyr chief,
Whom late the nation he had led,
With ashes on his head,
Wept with the passion of an angry grief.
Forgive me if from present things I turn
To speak what in my heart will beat and burn
And hang my wreath on his world-honored urn.
Nature, they say, doth dote
And cannot make a man
Save on some worn-out plan,
Repeating us by rote.
For him her old world molds aside she threw,
And, choosing sweet clay from the breast
Of the unexhausted west,
With stuff unstained shaped a hero
new,
Wise, steadfast in the strength of God and true.
How beautiful to see Once more a shepherd of mankind, indeed,
Who loved his charge, but never loved to lead;
One whose meek flock the people joyed
to be,
Not lured by any cheat of birth,
But by his clear-grained human worth
And brave old wisdom of sincerity!

They knew that outward grace is dust;
They could not choose but trust
In that sure-footed mind's unfaltering skill.
And supple tempered will
That bent like perfect steel to spring and thrust.
His was no lonely mountain peak of mind,
Thrusting to thin air o'er our cloudy bars.
A sea mark now—now lost in vapors blind.
Broad prairie, rather, genial, level land.
Fruitful and friendly for all humankind.
Yet also high to heaven and loved of loftiest stars.
Nothing of Europe here.
Or, then, of Europe fronting mornward still.
Ere any names of self and peer
Could Nature's equal scheme deface
And thwart her genial will.
Here was a type of the true elder race.
And one of Plutarch's men talked with us face to face.
I praise him not; it were too late.
And some innate weakness there must be
In him who condescends to victory.
Such as the present gives and cannot wait.
Safe in himself as in a fate,
So always firmly he.
He knew to bide his time
And can his fame abide.
Still patient in his simple faith sublime.
Till the wise years decide.
Great captains with their guns and drums
Disturb our judgment for the hour,
But at last silence comes.
These all are gone, and standing like a tower,
Our children shall behold his fame—
The kindly, earnest, brave, foreseeing man.
Sagacious, patient, dreading praise, not blame,
New birth of our new soil, the first American.

LINCOLN THE LEARNER.

THE hesitation which marked Lincoln's policy in the first year of his administration and which rebuffed him to his very often so far behind the more ardent of his supporters has been acknowledged even by those whom it most irritated to have been simply the hesitation of a man unused to his position, but who was conscious of his deficiencies and determined to remain so until through experience, from Edwin L. Godkin. And all admit the profound wisdom, the intimate knowledge of the people with whom he had to deal, displayed in his determination from first to last to be behind rather than in advance of the popular sentiment. And he grew up to the level of his responsibilities with a rapidity perhaps never equaled.

He knew how defective his training and education were, how little his previous course of life had done to fit him for his position, and to what a storm of hate and malignity he exposed himself, and yet he never flinched.

He was never guilty of the smallest pretense of affectation. He never attempted to conceal the fact that he was a learner, but he learned with a rapidity and retained with a tenacity which astonished those who thought

They had nothing but a bookworm's knowledge.

In four years he had struck out, single-handed, with difficulties and as no other statesman except perhaps William the Silent or Calvin has ever had to contend with, a policy in which the whole country has acknowledged the wisdom.

His hesitations for the destruction of the confederacy and been charged with timidity and his pace of hesitation and decided the emergency of the situation with a rapidity and a boldness which the great body of the people which he presided before him except Washington, had never possessed, and it is even doubtful whether Washington occupied as high a position among his contemporaries.

Lincoln's Life a Sermon.

Lincoln's whole career is a sermon in itself, the doctrine of American democracy. His life is a sermon which is to preach to us that whereas human success may be won, and his knowledge of memory is to be a personal inspiration to devote our possibilities and especially to devote the function of the man of politics of whom we have recently been inundated with so much contempt—the man of politics in American life. His name is a synonym of American democracy. He himself was the best trust on which the nation rests—upon the confidence in the masses of the people.—Rev. Dr. Samuel Schuyler.

CAPTURE OF APPAM

Experiences of the Emden and Others Recalled by Feet of Bare Handful of Teutons.

It was a bright clear day when we were captured. We were meeting ahead at a fair rate of speed when suddenly in the distance I saw what appeared to be an ordinary tramp steamer. Gradually she came closer. We did not fear her and continued ahead with no attempt to escape nor without making preparations to combat her, as we certainly expected no attack.

"Suddenly the tramp fired a shot from a small gun across our bows. I immediately dove to the deck. The foremast head, made apparently of canvas or some other flimsy material, fell away and revealed a battery of three guns.

"It immediately was apparent that resistance was useless, so we surrendered without offering resistance.

"Once aboard the Appam the German prize crew under the protection of the battery of guns of the raider

Another report said her armament included ten 100 mm. guns. Naval authorities here that the mystery of the Appam may be explained by her having been supplied with guns from the missing Karlsruhe.

On Jan. 11 she was in battle as armed Austrian trader the Clan McTearish, with a crew of 40 men, was captured, with a loss of 10 men, after a brief fight.

The Appam, which was ten miles away at the time in charge of a prize crew, scuttled hurriedly back to the scene and rescued four members of the crew of the sloop Clan McTearish struggling in the water.

Later, under orders from the commander of the raider, Lieutenant Berge, he held his prize for the American port and parted company with the Appam.

When the news for Hampton Roads started a member of the prize crew was stationed at the wireless for the

THE APPAM AND THE LATEST TYPE OF GERMAN SUBMARINE.

Immediately alarmed the Appam crew and locked them in various cabins. A similar precaution was taken with the prisoners.

"In the course of this work the twenty German captives, who were being taken to England, were discovered. They were discovered that they might assist the crew in taking charge of the ship. A large number of prisoners captured from various vessels sunk by the Germans then were placed aboard the Appam.

"This is the story of the capture of the Appam, a German submarine, by a British warship, the H.M.S. Thetis, on Jan. 11, 1916. The most thrilling story of the day of capture has never equalled this one—how the Appam was overpowered, how she was captured, and how she was taken to England.

"After the capture, the British ship towed the Appam and the double engine at her stern. The Appam then set out on one of the most remarkable voyages in history, which ended when she put into port at Hampton Roads.

"The entire Appam is a battle-ship in the water. The Appam is a German submarine, which is a battle-ship in the water. The Appam is a German submarine, which is a battle-ship in the water.

purpose of recovering a message, but to send none. By this method the whereabouts of the British warship, the Thetis, was known, and she was always known to Lieutenant Berge, who started far out of reach of them.

450 Ruled by 22 Germans.

On board the Appam are 450 persons—the prize crew of 22 German civilians, who were on their way to England for entertainment, the 100 passengers on the Appam and the Appam's crew of 100. All were controlled by the 22 Germans.

She had no doubt told about when captured, and there were no prizes about when she reached port. The Appam was captured by the British ship, the Thetis, on Jan. 11, 1916.

"As if we anticipated trouble, the Appam was captured by the British ship, the Thetis, on Jan. 11, 1916. The Appam was captured by the British ship, the Thetis, on Jan. 11, 1916.

the Appam, valued, with their cargoes, at $20,000,000, and had raided the harbor of Penang, sinking the Russian cruiser Jemchug and a French destroyer after entering the harbor disguised by the erection of a false fourth funnel.

British, French and Japanese cruisers had scoured the seas for three months seeking to stop the Emden's work of destruction when the Sydney sighted her off Cocos Island and offered battle. A landing party of forty men, under Lieutenant Muecke, was ashore from the Emden, destroying a cable and wireless station. They saw the Emden, commanded by Captain von Muller, steam out to meet the Sydney and saw both ships fighting, disappear over the horizon and reappear, disappearing around a bend of the island.

Other Naval Feats by Germans.

The daring of the Appam's small prize crew ranks up well with the feats of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, the flight of the gold-laden Kronprinzessin and the exploits of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Kronprinz Wilhelm.

The Appam is the third of these vessels to slip quietly into Hampton Roads, the Kronprinz Wilhelm and the Prinz Eitel Friedrich being there now.

The Prinz Eitel Friedrich dropped anchor in Hampton Roads on March 11, 1915, seven months after she had left Tientsin. She was a rusty-looking boat when she arrived, her engines were in bad repair, and Captain Thierbach, in charge, said he would not have entered the American port if he

RENO, THE MAGICIAN.

For thirty-four years Edward Reno has been a magician. He is constantly inventing new things in magic and illusions. Magic, like everything else, has progressed with rapid strides during the past few years.

Reno has the usual light paraphernalia, but performs his tricks while in ordinary evening dress and so adroitly as to escape detection in every case. In this respect he is a wonder. He does things that seem absolutely impossible of execution without the aid of supernatural agency.

One of his performances that never fail to amaze his audiences is known as the "dove trick." He burns a piece of common paper, and a dove rises phoenix-like from the ashes. He apparently tears the dove in two, only to find that he has two doves in his hands.

RENO, THE MAGICIAN.

He throws a glass of water into the air, and it changes into a dove and flies away.

Not the least enjoyable feature of Reno's performance is the running fire of comment with which he cultivates everything he does. These fragmentary remarks are full of fun and wit, with dash after dash of good tempered satire aimed at himself or his work. He is a man of fine personality and engaging stage presence, with a keen mentality and an artistic appreciation of the success he has achieved in his profession.

In a performance two hours in length he is able to spring one surprise after another on his audience, keeping his audience in a state of breathless wonder and delight until they forget to note the flight of time. The fact that many of these tricks are inventions of his own adds interest to the entertainment.

UNITED STATES ROBBED OF $17,000,000 BY THE ACTS OF LAND COM'IS'N

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The United States government is being 'robbed' of between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000 through a too liberal attitude of the Panama U. S. joint land commission, states General Goethals.

He told the house committee frankly that extravagant prices are being paid daily for land needed for canal purposes and much of the money is understood to be turned over to squatters who hold no legal title.

After outlining the most important phases of the case, General Goethals suggested legislation that will compel payments only on the actual value of the land. Such an arrangement was made in 1903 when the canal zone was acquired. He also strongly urged the immediate termination of the joint land commission.

Col. Goethals also cited cases where owners had been awarded 3,000 and 4,000 per cent more than the lands were valued at before the United States took possession.

The land commission is said to contain but one American and naturally takes the attitude that this government can afford to pay any price for property for canal use. They state the land owners in the section are poor and need the money.

The United States has paid out $18,000,000 where the fair value would have been $1,000,000. General Goethals announced with some feeling, it was hard to be on the scene of action and see his country robbed without lifting a warning hand.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Markets are today closed because of Lincoln's birthday.

HUNDREDS OF DINERS POISONED BY FANATIC

(By International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Details of a sinister plot planned by a supposed fanatic, to murder by poison the guests at a banquet given by Arch Bishop Hundolein Thursday evening, are in the hands of the police today.

One hundred prominent diners became violently ill as a result, but are reported out of danger now. It is believed the poisoner must have been interrupted at his work, or else all those present would have suffered a horrible fate.

A search of certain suspected rooms by plainclothes men revealed large quantities of poison and literature on anarchistics. Detectives working on the case state the public may expect an arrest at any moment.

GIGANTIC ROBBER BAND OF CHICAGO UNEARTHED

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Confronted by evidence secured by United States authorities, John Zeck today began his confession of a series of gigantic robberies perpetrated by an organized band of Chicago thieves.

According to secret service men, Zeck admitted the startling theft of $1,000,000 in revenue stamps from the St. Paul postoffice and the taking of $272,000 from the Westminster branch bank at Montreal.

Many prominent persons are involved, if Zeck's confession proves the truth. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flannigan, who are already under arrest.

FOSTER'S NAME NOW IS MENTIONED AS POSSIBLE SECRETARY OF WAR

ST. AUGUSTINE, Feb. 12.—Florida is backing Adjutant-General J. Clifford R. Foster, for secretary of war to fill the post made vacant by the resignation of Lindley M. Garrison. A big mass meeting held here today launched the movement, which is gaining rapidly in all parts of the state.

Dispatches received up to noon today from several Florida points indicate unanimous backing. Floridians are flooding Washington with telegrams to the president urging the appointment of General Foster on the ground of his known capabilities in military affairs. General Foster is recognized throughout the country as an authority on military matters and, therefore, is well fitted for the position.

ROUMANIA DEMANDS BULGARIA TO EXPLAIN

(By International News Service.)

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—Roumania has demanded an explanation from Bulgaria concerning the actions of the Bulgarian troops in crossing the international border, according to a dispatch received here from Bucharest.

It is further understood from Italian sources that Roumania will find the explanation insufficient and unacceptable. Diplomatic relations between the two countries may be terminated upon the arrival of the Bulgarian answer.

"INDIANA DAY" TO TAKE PLACE AT M. E. CHURCH

PLANS ALL LAID FOR LARGE CELEBRATION ON "INDIANA DAY" TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 23RD.

A few Indiana people met at the Daytona Beach Methodist church last Tuesday and arranged for the celebration of "Indiana Day."

C. C. VanNuys was elected chairman of the meeting and February 23rd was settled on as the best day for the celebration. The place will be the new basement of the Daytona Beach Methodist church, on the corner of Seabreeze avenue and Peninsula drive. Coffee will be served and a delightful program will be presented. Mrs. G. D. Finley has charge of the refreshments and Miss E. L. Brown will arrange the program.

Every citizen of Indiana or native of the "Hoosier" State is cordially invited to attend. Each party is urged to bring a basket lunch. All are asked to bring their own cups, spoons, etc.

ENTERTAINS FOR MOTIVIER AT HOME IN SEABREEZE

Mrs. E. A. Varney entertained a party of thirty of her friends at her home on the corner of Glenview boulevard and Halifax avenue, in honor of her mother's 93rd birthday. The house was very attractively decorated with beautiful roses, and a pleasant time was given to all by the most gracious hostess.

LITTLE SON IS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. LLEWELLYN

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Llewellyn are rejoicing over the safe arrival of a baby boy, weighing seven and a half pounds, Friday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Llewellyn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Burdick, on Halifax avenue. Father Llewellyn and "Grandpa" Burdick are both busy receiving congratulations and buying cigars.

TOURISTS' CLASS PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 13

A real treat is in store for those attending the next meeting of the Tourists' class of the Daytona Beach Methodist church. Miss Pearl Carpenter, of Covington, Ky., a charming story teller, who has been connected with the Chautauqua platform for some time and is very well known throughout the country, will address the class next Sunday at 9:45 a. m. Those who love a story well told will not be disappointed. Miss Carpenter's subject will be the "Tolling of Felix," a story full of human sympathies.

W. H. Botsford has returned North to his home in Rutland, Vermont, after a week's visit with his father-in-law, C. A. Phillips, at the Phillips' home on Peninsula drive. Mrs. Botsford will remain in Daytona Beach until spring.

A party numbering five people motored to New Smyrna Friday with B. E. Williams in his Oakland car. The people were all guests of the Seaside Inn, and spent a most enjoyable day in visiting New Smyrna and intermediate points.

Mrs. G. Y. Fowler arrived today from her home in Franklin, Ind., to make a visit of several weeks' duration at the home of Mrs. Uriah Hambrick, on Hollywood avenue. Mrs. Fowler has spent many winters at the beach in former years, and will be remembered by her numerous friends made in past season.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warren, of Newton, Ill., arrived Friday to spend the remainder of the season at the beach. Mr. and Mrs. Warren have enjoyed seasons at the beach for the last four years. Mr. Warren is a very enthusiastic horse and croquet player, and is welcomed South by other lovers of these games.

Condensed Knowledge.

At an examination held at Edinburgh university, a student was being examined in physiology. His knowledge was soon gauged by the professor, who rather surprised the young man by asking if he had his card—meaning his matriculation card. The professor in question is one of the most genial men in the university, and the young "med," fancying that he proposed to take some personal interest in him, replied that he had, and at once presented his visiting card. "Thanks," said the professor, blandly. "Now, will you kindly write on that all you know about physiology."

Usual Plan Reversed.

It was the first day of school, and the teacher was making up her records. "How many of you pupils are tuition pupils?" she asked—meaning, of course, those who lived out of the city district and must pay tuition. A bad little boy who does not like school and upon whom his parents are obliged to use all sorts of inducements to get him to go, could not get that word "tuition." "I don't know what you mean," said he. "I mean those that have to pay tuition," said the teacher. "Do you pay to come here?" "Now; they pay me to come here."

Biblical Trumpets.

First spoken of in the Bible the bugle is a beaten instrument of silver for sounding trumpet calls. The Israelites used the primitive ram's horn (shofar) from choice, it having a certain significance in the ritual. At the siege of Jericho the military calls were sounded by the Hebrews on a cow's horn. The Egyptians used the trumpet of silver. But the bugle was variously built of gold, silver, brass and bronze, and one of terra cotta—Roman of the fourth century—and recently added to the collection of the British museum.

Had Given It.

Here is a good story of a popular English actor. He had gone to give an entertainment at the house of a nouveau riche. There was a dinner on. When he got there, to his amazement, he was shown into the servants' hall to wait. Their dinner was just on the table, so he accepted the butler's invitation and sat down to it with them. After the meal, at which he was particularly bright, he went all through his program for the benefit of his hosts, the servants. He had hardly done when he was summoned to the drawing room, to find the guests there solemnly seated in rows, waiting for him to commence. "Commence," he asked, with the bland smile for which he is noted. "Commence what? My little entertainment? Oh, I see. Very sorry, but—it's over. I gave it, as I always do, where I dined. Good night."

SEABREEZE PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams returned from a week's visit with friends in the state metropolis.

Mr. Andrews arrived Friday from his home in the north to join his family at their home in the Haigh residence on Halifax avenue and the river front.

Mrs. W. A. Baggett, of Daytona, is visiting Seabreeze friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Abercrombie, on Seabreeze avenue. Mrs. Baggett is a former resident of the Peninsula.

Rev. Elmer Willis Serl leaves Monday for his new charge at River Falls, Wis., where he will reside alone until joined by his wife and son after the close of school here in the spring.

Mrs. Alice Simmons and little son, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Margaret Malloy for the last few days, is now pleasantly located in the Castle, on Atlantic avenue, owned by J. Darby.

Friday night was one greatly enjoyed by the guests of the Princess Issena. The third weekly card party of the season was held. All present were pleased with the good time experienced.

Mrs. L. L. Evernden returned from Okeechobee, where she has been visiting relatives, and is now located at her residence on Oak Ridge boulevard. Mrs. Evernden was accompanied on her return by Mrs. Vincent and daughter, Gleys, who after a short stay left for New York Friday night.

Mrs. Charles E. Starr, of Daytona Beach, is entertaining Mr. Frederick Hardy de Lisle, of Richmond, Va., as her house guest. Mr. de Lisle is a talented and well known organist and pianist, of Richmond, and it is earnestly hoped that the residents and visitors at Daytona will be favored with a few recitals given by this distinguished gentleman.

Beauty of the Dove.

The mourning dove received its given name from the mournful sound of its call notes. Its sad-voiced coo, coo, coo, suggests moaning and, next to the awful, storm-beaten wail of the screech owl, it is, under certain conditions, the most doleful sound uttered by an American bird. I knew one sensitive woman who was so affected by the daily mourning of a neighboring dove that she begged a sportsman to frighten it away. Another peculiar fact about this bird is the strange musical note that is sounded by the vibration of its wings. As the bird springs from the ground in flight, or wings its way overhead, the pulsations of its wings give forth a ringing, metallic sound, like the twanging of a tight wire. This dove loves country roads, more than any other bird, and to those who love beautiful things, its exquisitely molded form and immaculate plumage is always a pleasing touch of nature. One might as well try to describe in words the colors in a fire opal as those of this bird.

What Are Children?

What are children? . . . Flowers! They are flowers of the invisible world; indestructible, self-perpetuating flowers, each with a multitude of angels and evil spirits underneath its leaves, toiling and wrestling for dominion over it. Blossoms! They are the blossoms of another world, whose fragrance is angels and archangels. Or dewdrops! They are dewdrops that have their source, not in the chambers of the earth, nor among the vapors of the sky, which the next breath of wind or the next flash of sunshine may dry up forever, but among the everlasting fountains and inexhaustible reservoirs of mercy and love.—John Neal.

City's Eight Pension Funds.

New York City has eight pension funds. They are the public school teachers' retirement fund, the police pension fund, the fire department relief fund, the department of health fund, the College of the City of New York fund, the supreme court appellate division fund, the street cleaning department fund, and the city of New York employees' retirement fund.

IMPORTANT CASE GOES BEFORE THE CRIMINAL COURTS

CRIMINAL COURT AT DELAND TRIES CASE OF STATE OF FLORIDA VERSUS S. F. SMITH
TODAY.

The trial of S. F. Smith goes today before the criminal court, which is now in session at DeLand.

Mr. Smith, who is the president of the Daytona Beach Town Council, is accused by G. P. Johnson, another member of the same body, holding the place of superintendent of the Daytona Beach Municipal Water Works, as well as his office in the council, thus disobeying the state law. On this point the law says that no member of the council shall be a party to the letting of any contract for municipal work.

The case has created much interest on the Peninsula, as it is more of a test case, in the opinion of most people, than one in which a crime has been committed. Mr. Smith has held both offices, and has executed their duties to the satisfaction of practically every citizen in Daytona Beach.

A party consisting of Elmer Oliver, J. L. Reed, S. F. Smith, T. J. Gushee and B. E. Williams, went over to the trial this morning in Mr. Williams' auto. Harry A. Horn, the attorney for the town and defense also, motored over. G. P. Johnson made the trip by motorcycle, and several other interested parties are spending the day at the county seat.

The outcome of the case is awaited by beach residents, the majority of whom are in hopes that their friend, S. F. Smith, will receive the verdict of acquittal.

Dreams.

Few people, if any, sleep without dreaming, and even on the basis of only one dream a night this would mean over seventeen thousand dreams for each person fifty years old. Yet few of us can recall even seventeen occasions in which a coming event has been forecasted in a dream. The prophecy that comes true is remembered because the actual occurrence brings to memory the concepts in the dream; the others are forgotten.

The After Effect.

Also, there are a good many widows now taking in washing whose husbands didn't believe in preparedness.—Boston Transcript.

Evidently Built to Last.

See the Girl in the Tire?

From a modest beginning the present
Kelly-Springfield industry was developed, and while the output has increased over a thousand fold, the tires are still made by hand in the same old careful way.

An electric tractor is used by the Pennsylvania Railroad company to shift cars in the streets of Jersey City. On one of the wheels is a Kelly-Springfield sectional block tire which has seen twenty-two months continual service, during which period three other block type of tires of different makes were worn out; these were gradually replaced by Kelly-Springfield blocks, until now all four wheels are equipped.

YOUNG MAIL CARRIER DROWNED IN INLET

William Wheldon was drowned in Mesquite Inlet early this morning when a skiff capsized, which was occupied by Wheldon and Cabot Wright.

According to the reports received,
it appears that Wheldon, in company with Cabot Wright, were out in a launch at Mesquite Inlet early this morning, and that they subsequently left the launch and took a skiff for the purpose of setting some buoys, and owing to the roughness of the water, the skiff capsized throwing both Wheldon and Wright into the water. Cabot Wright, being a strong swimmer, was able to save himself, but Wheldon, from accounts received, went to the bottom immediately and was not seen again. The accident occurred at 8:40 o'clock this morning, and up to the time of going to press
the body of Wheldon had not been reported recovered.

The deceased was a young man about twenty years of age, and has been regularly employed for some time past carrying the mails between New Smyrna and Ponce Park. Wheldon's folks reside at Orange City.

WINDOW DISPLAY OF SCHOOLS SPLENDID

The Daytona school exhibits which were shown at the DeLand County fair, recently, are on display in the north window of Anthony's store on Beach street, and are attracting a great many people with the result of much favorable comment.

The exhibits range from the primary grades to the high school classes, and are worthy of much praise.
Each display is splendid in itself, and worthy of special mention. It would be unfair to say that one is better than the other. From the work of the wee children, who labored diligently and well with their colored crayons and manila paper, to the more trained work of the upper classes, all are well and carefully done. The displays of the domestic art department and manual training department are especially good. Needlework is always so attractive for it represents hand as well as brain work, and hours of both, while it is truly wonderful what can be accomplished with the hammer and the saw.

Creditable mention is due the teachers of the school, who with their patience and kindness brought out the best within their pupils' minds, which is visibly evident by this fine display.

The diploma prizes are arranged around the edge of the window which number nineteen.

First prize was awarded the high school department in the general high school display.

NO PLACE IN CALIFORNIA TO COMPARE WITH DAYTONA

Frank Hazard, of Providence, R. I., came to Daytona the forepart of the week and is delighted with the city and the Florida winter climate. Mr.
Hazard, who is engaged in the realty and brokerage business in Providence, is a friend of S. A. Pierce and has since his arrival written north to a brother-in-law of Mr. Pierce that all Mr. Pierce had said of Daytona was true and then the story was only half told. He has been all over California and says there is no place he has ever seen that compares with Daytona for natural beauty.

Globe-Wernicke

Sectional Bookcases

ONCE books either overcrowded limited shelf space or empty shelves yawned and waited for books. When one bookcase overflowed, a new one was purchased, and its gaping shelves were gradually filled. That was before the Globe Wernicke period in bookcases. Now, books and their shelves come together. The bookcase grows apace with the library. This is the modern way of building a library. This is the Globe-Wernicke idea.

THE WEATHER

FOR FLORIDA—Generally fair tonight and Sunday, except in northwest portion, where rain and colder weather is expected; winds light to moderate, east.

It is to be wondered, now and then, if the weather man is spending his vacation in a dry town. Never before has he submitted such material to the News. What is to be done? If his "copy" is not printed, he'll be down on Daytona, and, then—well, then a bunch of unheard-of storms will sweep the East Coast. Today he sends the following, and asks just what crop he refers to. Monday he will tell all about it himself.

There is a crop that grows and thrives in countries dark and bold; It worries men throughout their lives, Yet never can be sold. The orange trees may die away; The peach trees fail to bear, The world may lie in brown decay With sorrow everywhere. And still this crop will thrive in lands That couldn't raise a cow, Without the help of human hands, Without the farmer's plough. —The Weather Man.

PRESIDENT WILSON MAY CHOOSE SECRETARY OF WAR TODAY

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Every prominent Democrat in the country is being urged for the appointment of secretary of war, according to Secretary Tumulty.

As fast as telegrams suggesting new names in connection with the cabinet office are received, they are forwarded to President Wilson, who is aboard his yacht, Mayflower. It is thought that a decision will be announced today. Leaders now express the view that Garrison's resignation will help the present preparedness plan rather than hinder it.

ENTERTAINED AT AUCTION BRIDGE PARTY

One of the prettiest card parties of the social season, quite unique in its character, was given at the Despland hotel Friday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, by Mrs. Charles M. Bingham, Miss Mary Harry, Mrs. Robert S. Maley and Mrs. F. B. Wright.

The form of entertainment was auction bridge, and fifteen tables were engaged in this popular game. The southwestern wing of the lobby presented a gay and festive scene of charmingly gowned ladies and a bevy of pretty girls, busily devoted to cards.

Artistically arranged vases of roses and greenery fairyfied the lovely picture.

The Despland orchestra rendered delightful music, livening the gay surroundings, which was much enjoyed by the hearers.

Mrs. W. M. Stewart, a daughter of Col. C. M. Bingham, whose home is in Chicago, and who is here on a visit, assisted the hostesses in receiving. Mrs. Stewart has many friends in Daytona who were hearty in their welcome of this most charming lady. Miss Jessie Richardson, also from Chicago, a sister of Mrs. Bingham, also assisted, and renewed friendship with her many friends in Daytona.

After auction, the scores were taken up, and the beautiful prizes were awarded to the winners. Mrs. F. J. Walter received the first prize, the second was given to Mrs. Laura A. Balcom; Mrs. Schneider captured the third, Miss Adelaide Young the fourth, and Mrs. Chas. V. Gailer, the fifth. They were lovely gifts, indeed, and the ladies were most proud to display them among the gathering.

A deliciously dainty and tempting luncheon was then served, which consisted of salads, ices and cake.

Each of the guests then bade their charming hostesses adieu, assuring them that a very pleasant afternoon had been spent.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Misses Emma and Lilla Abercrombie of Myrtle avenue, will entertain at cards Tuesday afternoon, February 22nd, in the Palmetto clubhouse. The party will take the form of the patriotic spirit of Washington's birthday as much as possible.

Through the kindness and courtesy of Commodore Burgoyne, the reception which was to have been given at the home of Mrs. Murray Lozier Stanley, president of the Palmetto Club, Wednesday evening, to the Florida State Board of Federated clubs, will be held in the Burgoyne Casino. The casino is an ideal place for the reception, for while Mrs. Stanley's home is most spacious, still a very large number is expected, and the central location of the casino will bring out an even greater number. Mrs. Stanley invites the members of the Palmetto Club to be present, also all visiting members of clubs and their guests. Much praise is due Commodore Burgoyne for his generosity in lending his beautiful casino for this reception.

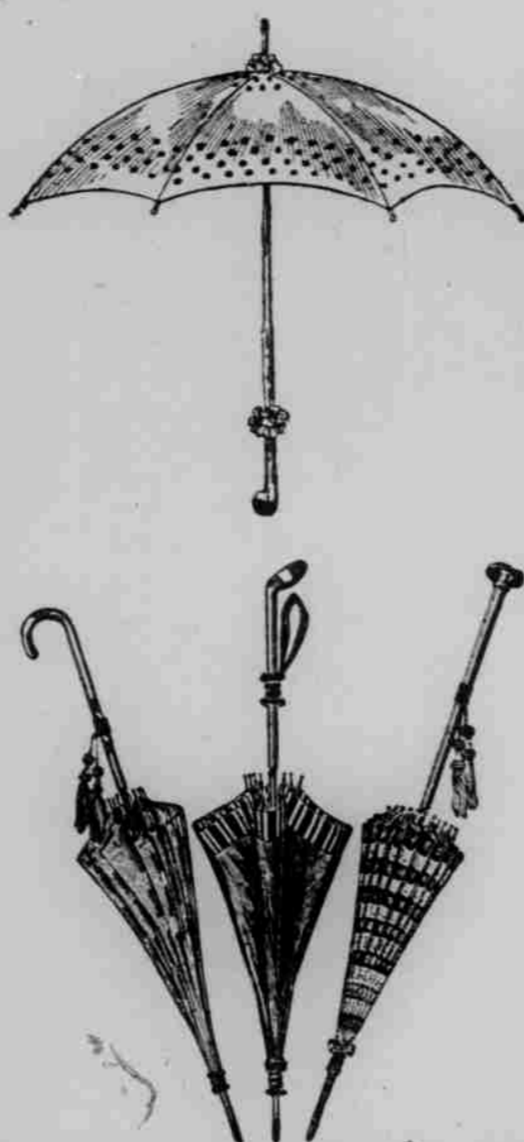

Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Conrad, Mrs. Helen McCay and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leszczynski are planning a motor trip to Orlando Sunday, for the day.

YALE'S LAST BIG "PROM."

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Feb. 12.—A strain of sadness has run through the gorgeous annual Junior Promenade week at Yale on account of the news that this will be the last big "prom" for several years.

Thus is the policy of preparedness brought home forcefully to the "prom" girls. The Yale students thought they were doing their share for preparedness when they organized the Yale Battery and the Yale Aviation Corps.

But now they will have to give up the social event, so far as its present size is concerned, because of an agreement between President Hadley and the military authorities of the state that Yale will not again ask for the use of the Second Regiment Armory, where for years the dance has taken place. No hall in the city approximates the size of the armory.

The state authorities have taken the stand that the drills of the various military companies must not again be interfered with, and it always takes a week or ten days to decorate the great hall for the "prom" ball. Then for the week following local organizations who want to reap the advantage of the $5,000 decorations, put up by the "prom" committee, have always used the floor.

Hereafter the Yale event will have to be curtailed at least a half to fit any of the other halls.

INVENTS SILENT MOVIE CAMERA FOR BIG GAME

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Carl E. Akeley announced today that he has obtained final patents on a silent, rapid fire movie picture camera, always ready on the instant for snapping a "supreme moment," which will be invaluable in taking pictures of big game in their haunts.

"I tried to get moving pictures of spearing a lion in Africa," he said today. The expedition after that picture had cost $3,000, and if I had obtained what I wanted, the reel might have been worth $50,000. The spearing was all over before the camera could be adjusted.

"So I got busy. For two years I have been working to perfect this new camera, which will always be ready and will not make any noise to alarm game."

OWN AN AVOCADO GROVE

Avocado groves of Dade County have proved that they are exceedingly profitable. The past few seasons growers have sold fruit at $2 to $6 a dozen—in some cases it has brought $8 to $10.

Land really good for avocado culture is limited in area. The district in which this great salad fruit thrives best is on the pine ridge west of Bay Biscayne, right where the lands we offer are located.

Those who go into avocado culture now should be receiving handsome returns on their investment within the next few years. The supply can hardly exceed the demand, since the production area is so restricted.

We Make and Maintain Groves You Need Not Worry About It

We have been making avocado groves for several years. For a long time we have been engaged in a careful study of this industry. We select your land, plant the trees and take care of the grove for you. You don't have to worry about it. Visit the avocado groves and lands around Larkins and Kendall while in Florida this winter. Our booklet gives full particulars. Write for it.

MOST WORTHY GRAND MATRON OF O. E. S. CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Lulu M. Scott, grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Florida, who is the guest of the grand secretary, H. Carter, and wife at Holly Hill, received a telegram this morning from Mrs. Cora R. Franz, of Jacksonville, past grand matron, informing her of the death of the most worthy grand matron of the order.
The telegram was as follows:
"I am grieved over the passing away of our dear most worthy grand matron. Our loss is irreparable."
The telegram contained no details.
Mrs. Franz apparently being under the impression that Mrs. Scott was already in possession of the information. Mrs. Rata A. Mills, most worthy grand matron of the general grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, resided in Bradford, Pa.

MET WITH ACCIDENT WHEN CRANKING CAR

J. E. OLDSHUE, OF WAVELAND, IND., CRANKED CAR IN GEAR
AND MACHINE CRUSHED HIM AGAINST GARAGE DOOR.

J. E. Oldshue, of Waveland, Ind., met with a distressing accident about noon Friday while cranking a car for another guest at the Troy hotel, his leg being broken about half way between the knee and ankle.

Dr. G. A. Klock was immediately summoned and the injured man taken to the hospital where the broken bone was set and he was made as comfortable as possible. He refused to take an anesthetic and bore unflinchingly the painful operation of setting the broken bone.

Mr. Oldshue is a brother of Mrs.
William Farmer, of Terre Haute, Ind., who spends the winters regularly at the Troy in company with her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer and Mr.
Oldshue were preparing to go to New Smirna in Mr. Farmer's car to meet some friends and to expedite their departure, Mr. Oldshue volunteered to assist another guest of the hotel whose car was blocking the front of the garage containing Mr. Farmer's car while the guest mentioned was putting an inner tube in one of his tires. Not hearing this gentleman's word of warning, Mr. Oldshue cranked the car, which had been left in gear, and it started forward and crushed him against the door of the garage, breaking his leg as stated.

Mr. Oldshue had been in Daytona but a few days, having come south for the benefit of his health. He expected to leave shortly for points in the southern part of the state and on the West Coast.

tor of the church. The bride has been a guest at the New Gables hotel for a time in company with her mother, Mrs. G. W. Hasler, of Belmar, N. J.
Miss Bessie Osborn, of New York,

Mrs. Forrest Polatty entertained a number of her friends very delightfully from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock Thursday apartments, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Claude R. Summers, of Birmingham, Ala., who is her guest.
